

Contributors

Jeroen Boomgaard (1953) is professor of Art and Public Space at the Gerrit Rietveld Academie in Amsterdam. He is also head of the Master Artistic Research at the University of Amsterdam. His most recent publication is Wild Park: Het onverwachte als opdracht (Fonds BKVB, 2011).

J.Boomgaard@uva.nl

Paul De Bruyne (1955) is a publicist and theatre maker. He teaches Theatre at the Fontys Hogeschool voor de Kunsten and Sociology of Art at the Master Arts & Heritage of the University of Maastricht, the Netherlands. He has worked as a dramaturgist and director in Belgium, the Netherlands, China, Ghana, and Kenya. His theatre text 'Old Sores' has been produced and performed in the Netherlands, Hong Kong, and Beijing. His most recent monograph is Een stoet van kleur en klanken: De muziek van Luc Mishalle & Co (Academia Press, 2009). He is currently working on a book on rehearsal techniques in theatre: God bestaat/misschien/niet.

p.debruyne@fontys.nl

Pascal Gielen (1970) is Director of the Research Centre Arts in Society at the Rijksuniversiteit Groningen, the Netherlands, where he is also Professor of Sociology of Art and Culture Politics. Gielen also heads the research Group Arts in Society of the Fontys College for the Arts in Tilburg, the Netherlands. He has written a dozen books on dance, visual art, art institutions, heritage, post-Fordism, globalization, democracy, and culture politics.

p.j.d.gielen@rug.nl

Stefan Hertmans (1951) is the author of a substantial body of literary and essayistic work that has won him international recognition and awards. He has published poetry, novels, essays, theatre texts, short stories, and a textbook on art education. Hertmans has taught in the Master Course of the Royal Academy of Fine Arts (KASK, University College, Gent, Belgium) and until October 2010 was the Head of the Studium Generale there. He has taught and lectured at the Sorbonne, the universities of Vienna, Berlin and Mexico City, University College London and the Library of Congress (Washington).

stefan.hertmans@telenet.be

Anders Kreuger (1965) is curator at M HKA, the Museum of Contemporary Art in Antwerp, Belgium. From 2007 until 2010 he was director of the Malmö Art Academy, Lund University, and from 2007 until 2011 curator of exhibitions at Lunds konsthall, both in Sweden. From 2007 until 2010 he was also member of the Programme Team for the European Kunsthalle in Cologne. Since 1999 Kreuger has worked as an independent curator, writer and lecturer, authoring numerous projects in northern, eastern and western Europe, Russia, India and the United States. In the 1990s Anders Kreuger directed the Nordic Information Office in Vilnius, Lithuania, and NIFCA, the Nordic Institute for Contemporary Art, in Helsinki, Finland. anders.kreuger@gmail.com

Rudi Laermans (1957) is professor of Sociological Theory at the Faculty of Social Sciences, University of Leuven, Belgium and also a regular guest teacher at PARTS, the Brussels based international dance school directed by Anne Teresa De Keersmaeker. He has widely published within the domains of social and cultural theory and the sociology of the arts. Besides being an academic, Laermans is also active as essayist and critic. His book Moving Together: Making and theorizing contemporary dance will be published in 2012 by Valiz. rudi.laermans@soc.kuleuven.be

Dieter Lesage (1966) is professor of Philosophy at the Department of Audiovisual and Performing Arts Rits (Erasmus University College Brussels) and professor of Art Criticism at the Free University Brussels. He published widely on nationalism, racism, multiculturalism and globalization and curated several international group exhibitions. With Ina Wudtke, he is the author of Black Sound White Cube (Loecker, 2010). Dieter Lesage lives in Berlin. dieter.lesage@vub.ac.be.

Jan Masschelein (1956) is professor at the Laboratory for Education and Society, Catholic University of Leuven, Belgium. His primary areas of scholarship are educational theory, social and political philosophy, and critical theory. Currently his research concentrates on the 'public' role of education in the age of networks and on 'mapping' and 'walking' as critical research practices. Recent work includes: Globale Immunität oder Ein kleine Kartographie des europäischen Bildungsraum (Diaphanes, 2005), 'The Learning Society from the Perspective of Governmentality' (ed., Blackwell, 2007) and the Dutch translation of The Ignorant Schoolmaster (Rancière). jan.masschelein@ppw.kuleuven.be Daniel Muzyczuk (1980) is curator and art critic. Curator at the Museum of Art in Łódź. Co-founder of the anti-censorship initiative Indeks73. He curated, among other projects, shows like: 'Long Gone', Susan Philipsz (2009), 'Fabryka', Mariusz Waras & Krzysztof Topolski (2010), 'MORE IS MORE' (2010) and 'Melancholy of Resistance: Works from the collection of M HKA Museum of Contemporary Art Antwerp' (2010). He is teaching at the Academy of Fine Art in Gdańsk. Member of AICA.

d.muzyczuk@gmail.com

Tessa Overbeek (1982) studied Arts, Culture and Media (BA) and Literary and Cultural Studies (MA) at the University of Groningen, the Netherlands, with a focus on cognitive approaches to art and culture. She has been teaching courses in the sociology of art and academic writing at the department of Arts, Culture and Media of the University of Groningen and has been working as a freelance writer, editor and researcher.
tsoverbeek@gmail.com

Marco Scotini (1964) is a curator and art critic based in Milan, Italy. He is the director of the BA and MA of Visual Arts and Curatorial Studies at NABA (Nuova Accademia di Belle Arti) in Milan, and editor of the magazine No Order. Art in a Post-Fordist Society. His writings can be found in such periodicals as Moscow Art Magazine, Springerin, Flash Art International, Domus, Manifesta Journal, Brumaria. His exhibitions include an ongoing project Disobedience Archive (Berlin, Mexico DF, Nottingham, Atlanta, etc., 2005–2011), 'A History of Irritated Material' (Raven Row, London, 2010) and 'Gianni Colombo' (Castello di Rivoli, Turin, 2009).
m.scotini@gmail.com

Richard Sennett (1943) is an American sociologist, who has studied Sociology and History in New York and London. Sennett's research focuses on cities, work, and cultural sociology and his publications include The Fall of Public Man (Knopf, 1977), The Conscience of the Eye: The Design and Social Life of Cities (Faber and Faber, 1991), Flesh and Stone: The Body and the City in Western Civilization (Norton & Company, 1996), The Craftsman (Yale University Press, 2008). He teaches Sociology at New York University and at the London School of Economics.
richard.sennett@nyu.edu

Maarten Simons (1975) is professor at the Centre for Educational Policy and Innovation and the Laboratory for Education and Society, Catholic University of Leuven, Belgium. His research interests are educational policy, political and social philosophy and educational theory with a specific focus on new modes of governance, globalization/Europeanization and the public role of (higher) education/teachers. Recent work includes: Globale Immunität oder Eine kleine Kartographie des Europäischen Bildungsraum (Diaphanes, 2005), The Learning Society from the Perspective of Governmentality (ed., Blackwell, 2007,) and Re-reading Education Policies: Studying the Policy Agenda of the 21st Century (ed., Sense Publishers, 2009).
Maarten.Simons@ppw.kuleuven.be

Bert Taken (1951) is a philosopher and teaches at the Gerrit Rietveld Academie and the Academy of Architecture, both in Amsterdam. He is currently doing research for a doctoral thesis about legitimization issues of contemporary visual art and design education.
bert.taken@gmail.com

Barend van Heusden (1957) is professor of Culture and Cognition, with special reference to the Arts, in the Department of Arts, Culture and Media Studies at the University of Groningen in the Netherlands. He has published articles and books in the fields of literary and culture theory, semiotics and cognition, as well as arts and culture education. Since 2008, he supervises the national project 'Culture in the Mirror', a continuous cultural education curriculum. In this project, culture education is approached from a cognitive-semiotic perspective. A framework is developed that allows schools and teachers to design a culture curriculum that is tailored to the pupils' development and connects to the changes in contemporary youth and school culture.
www.rug.nl/staff/b.p.van.heusden/index